SUPERVISORY PATENT EXAMINER

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. The Applicants' arguments and amendments filed on February 28, 2006 have been fully considered and are persuasive.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-2, 4-8, 11-20, 22, 24-26, 28-32, and 34-41 are allowed. The claims indicated include limitations that the prior arts of record do not appear to teach or render obvious, hence they are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As presented in the previous office action, Li (US005634125A) discloses of a method for data redistribution process for adding a new node to a database system wherein a portion of the buckets of data for each existing node redistributes to the new node and Dreszer (US006442661B1) discloses of a method for allocating only portions of the available memory as necessary or when requested and adjusting the unallocated or the still available memory accordingly. However, the prior arts of record fail to teach or suggest individually or in combination as stated in the independent claims for "slowly assigning a portion of the full bucket allocation that was determine at startup without redistributing the total buckets among the cache systems, including the new cache system, unless the cache cluster is operating at a maximum load" and in combination with other limitations as set forth in the independent claims. In addition, the Applicants argue that Li and Dreszer fail to teach or suggest "a slow start process, where portions of the full bucket allocation are slowly assigned or shed for a new cache system without performing re-distribution of such buckets, in the manner claimed" (Remark, col.3, pg.15). According to the Applicants, "in embodiments of the present invention, the full bucket allocation is slowly assigned or slowly backed-off (shed) from the new cache system until the new cache system is capable of handling the full bucket allocation that was determined during the distribution of the total buckets of the cache cluster at startup of the new cache system" (Remarks, col.2, pg.15).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
